SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, each consignee, or master, factor, or agent of the vessel other than a consignee of the part of the cargo consigned to the master, and the boatswain or other officer of such vessel specially designated by the master of each vessel, and all persons coming on board such vessel at any port or place in the United States before the vessel has been admitted to entry or cleared, and before the customs officers in charge of the vessel shall have given permission, and before any passengers shall have been landed from such vessel, severally to report and answer truly all questions which may be asked by the immigrant inspectors touching the right of any alien or other person to enter the United States, and touching any matter or thing which may affect the admission of any alien or other person into the United States, and to produce the certificate of manifest required by section 4 of this Act to be delivered to the master of the vessel, and to exhibit his passport, if any, to the immigrant inspectors, and to answer such questions in relation thereto as may be required by the Secretary of Labor or by any person in charge of the examination of passengers or aliens, and to point out all persons on board such vessel who have been engaged to be carried in the United States, and to produce all letters, papers, and documents in his possession or control relating thereto, and to give all information required by the Secretary of Labor or by any person in charge of the examination of passengers or aliens touching the compliance with the provisions of this Act and any other Act or law regulating the admission of aliens to the United States. Any master, captain, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses to comply with the provisions of this section, or who refuses or neglects to detain on board his vessel any alien who is required by the immigrant inspectors to be detained thereon, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to the immigrant inspectors any alien on board such vessel who is required by them to be so delivered, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to the immigrant inspectors any list required by section 12 of this Act, or who refuses or neglects to answer any question required by this section to be answered by the master of the vessel, or who refuses or neglects to detain any alien on board such vessel when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to the immigrant inspectors any alien on board such vessel who is required by them to be so delivered, or who refuses or neglects to comply with any of the provisions of this section, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien as to whom such violation occurs. And no vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) That if an alien seaman did not appear upon the customs manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, or if he was temporarily on the inward or such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deliver such landing certificate, and such seaman shall be deported in the manner provided by law, unless such seaman be duly accounted for in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury for which he is detained by the immigration officers, or unless specifically certified by the Secretary of Labor from time to time to the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Commerce as a seaman who has been lawfully admitted and is entitled to a return to the country to which he belongs, or is a citizen thereof, or has resided therein for the five years immediately preceding the arrival of such vessel in the United States, and who intends to resume residence therein, and who is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the consular officer of the country for which issued, or is otherwise entitled to enter such country. Any such seaman who has been granted temporary admission into the United States solely because of sickness or injury shall be deported in the same manner as provided in the case of other aliens who are ordered deported from the United States, when certified by the medical officer in charge of the hospital where he is being treated to be no longer in need of hospital treatment on account of such sickness or injury, unless the Secretary of Labor shall have granted him permission to remain longer in the United States. Any seaman who has been granted temporary admission into the United States solely because of sickness or injury and who has been ordered deported from the United States shall be detained on board or at the immigration station at the option of the master of the vessel on which he arrived, pending the expiration of the period allowed for his departure and his removal on such vessel or other vessel of the same line: Provided, That the cost of his detention at such station shall be paid by the master of the vessel on which he arrived. Any alien seaman who shall fail to depart from the United States within the period allowed for his departure, or who shall come ashore while his vessel is in port without the permission of the immigration officer in charge of the port, shall be deported as provided in the case of other aliens who are ordered deported from the United States, but such deportation shall be at the expense of the appropriation for the expenses of the Department of Labor for the fiscal year in which the deportation occurs. Any seaman who shall come ashore at any port in violation of the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $10 and costs, or to imprisonment for not more than ten days, in the discretion of the court, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid, not shall such alien be granted clearance papers for the vessel on which he arrived, or any other vessel, while the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel is required by this section to pay the hospital expenses of such alien seaman, or the cost of his maintenance, or the penalty imposed by this section, or any part thereof, unless a bond in such sum as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, with sufficient surety or sureties, shall have been given to indemnify the United States against such expenses. Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in port shall be deported as provided in the case of other aliens who are ordered deported from the United States, but such deportation shall be at the expense of the appropriation for the expenses of the Department of Labor for the fiscal year in which the deportation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay any fine or penalty imposed by this section, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance papers may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine and costs, or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Fines and liens accruing under this section shall not attach upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived if the master shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he had no knowledge or reason to believe that the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause such fine to accrue or deport after remonstrance by the inspector of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport such seaman by such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or from any island possession of the United States, except Guam, Tutuila, Olosenga, and Manua, in the Samoan group, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons, including the members of the crew, coming to the United States from any foreign port or place, or from Guam, Tutuila, Olosenga, or Manua, in the Samoan group, and the names of all persons, including the members of the crew, who may be taken on board the vessel at any such island possession of the United States for the purpose of being brought to the United States on such vessel, stating the location of the vessel in the harbor at the time the list or manifest is delivered, and specifying the number of persons on board, as near as may be ascertained, all cases in which the vessel may have called at more than one port in the United States before coming to the port of arrival, and the object in each case of touching at such port. There shall be prepared and delivered by the master of any vessel carrying passengers who embark at a foreign port for a port in the United States, in addition to the list or manifest required to be delivered upon arrival, a separate list or manifest containing the names of all such passengers who are destined to the island possessions of the United States mentioned in this section, and the immigration officer at the port of arrival may place on board any such vessel such additional inspectors as he may deem necessary for the proper inspection of such passengers destined to such island possessions. Such list or manifest shall be in addition to any list or manifest required by the immigration laws of the United States, and shall contain such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who refuses to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival the list or manifest required by this section, or who refuses to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the departure of the vessel from the port any list or manifest required by this section, or who refuses or neglects to answer truthfully any question concerning the persons on board the vessel propounded to him by any immigration officer, or who refuses to deliver to any such officer any person on board the vessel, or who refuses to allow any such officer to go on board the vessel, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien so named in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) That any alien seaman who does not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port, or from Guam, Tutuila, Olosenga, or Manua, in the Samoan group, or who secures employment on board any vessel without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed to be unlawfully in the United States and shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall in his discretion otherwise recommend.

(c) That any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel at any port or place therein without the permission of the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, and any alien seaman who secures employment on board any vessel without such permission, shall be deemed to be unlawfully in the United States and shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall in his discretion otherwise recommend.

(d) That any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in port in the United States shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall in his discretion otherwise recommend.

(e) That any alien seaman who shall be employed on any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or from any island possession of the United States mentioned in this section, or who shall land temporarily in the United States for the purpose of obtaining employment, and who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived unless specially permitted by the Secretary of Labor to land in the United States, except seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States solely in the course of a voyage between two foreign ports, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall in his discretion otherwise recommend.

(f) That any alien seaman who shall come to the United States in any capacity and who shall be refused a landing by the immigration officers at the port of arrival shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall in his discretion otherwise recommend.

(g) That any alien seaman who shall be employed on any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or from any island possession of the United States mentioned in this section, or who shall land temporarily in the United States for the purpose of obtaining employment, and who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived unless specially permitted by the Secretary of Labor to land in the United States, except seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States solely in the course of a voyage between two foreign ports, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall in his discretion otherwise recommend.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to depart on board any such vessel as a passenger, shall be required by the master of such vessel to deposit with the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival (after such inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), if such inspection of such alien seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) That any alien seaman who did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any foreign port, or from Guam, Tutuila, Olosenga, or Manua, in the Samoan group, or who secures employment on board any vessel without the permission of the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed to be unlawfully in the United States and shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall in his discretion otherwise recommend.

(c) That any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel at any port or place therein without the permission of the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, and any alien seaman who secures employment on board any vessel without such permission, shall be deemed to be unlawfully in the United States and shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall in his discretion otherwise recommend.

(d) That any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in port in the United States shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall in his discretion otherwise recommend.

(e) That any alien seaman who shall be employed on any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or from any island possession of the United States mentioned in this section, or who shall land temporarily in the United States for the purpose of obtaining employment, and who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived unless specially permitted by the Secretary of Labor to land in the United States, except seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States solely in the course of a voyage between two foreign ports, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Secretary of Labor shall in his discretion otherwise recommend.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or from a port in the Canal Zone or the Panama Canal Zone, or from any port in the United States to which it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively applied for or entered, and specifying those to be held on board for detention: or lists containing no names of such aliens, as the case may be. Such lists shall be delivered by the master, agent, consignee, or master to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been taken on board, or has left the vessel, during a stay in port, to be noted on the lists, with the time and circumstances in connection therewith. And after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver lists containing the names of any such aliens who have been taken on board, or who have left the vessel during her stay in port, and the cause or reason therefor, if known, and to report the number of such aliens, together with such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, concerning the movements of any such aliens, before the departure of the vessel from the port. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall fail to deliver such lists, or who shall fail to report any such alien, or who shall refuse to furnish such information concerning any such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such sum, and in the event such sum is imposed, while it remains unpaid, not shall such vessel be granted clearance: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, or for the sole purpose of obtaining surgical treatment, relief, or hospitalization as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except vessels arriving and departing from ports on the Canadian border which are contiguous to Canadian ports, and except vessels plying between the United States and Mexico), at the time of arrival at the first port of arrival in the United States shall deliver to the master of each vessel a sufficient number of forms for the manifest examination by the immigration officers at the port of arrival and for the inspection by the immigration officers at the subsequent ports, if any, at which the vessel may call before departing from the United States. Such forms shall contain inquiries concerning each alien seaman employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and shall contain such other inquiries concerning each alien seaman as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. The master of each vessel shall cause each alien seaman employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman on board the vessel, or has caused such seaman to be removed from the vessel for inspection or to depart from the United States, to be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and shall not permit any such seaman to depart from the United States except in pursuance of a permit from such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, and shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deliver after requirement by the immigration officers or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except one liable to detain on board) who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on board when discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing as much of such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor and specified in the rules governing the admission of aliens to the United States. Such lists shall be delivered to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival before the vessel is granted entry, except that when such vessel is bound from one port to another in the United States the lists required by this section may be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of destination before the vessel is granted entry. Any person who shall knowingly, and with intent to conceal the right of any alien to enter the United States, fail to deliver such list or lists, or deliver a list in which he shall omit to enter the name of any alien employed on such vessel, stating as to each such alien the full name, occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination, so far as known, or who shall refuse to answer any question put to him by any immigration officer touching the right of any alien to enter the United States, or who shall make any false answer concerning the same, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Masters of vessels may appeal to the Secretary of Labor from the decision of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and such appeal shall operate to stay the final decision of such officer until the Secretary of Labor shall have had reasonable time to consider and decide the case. Masters of vessels who refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or with any lawful rule or regulation made by the Secretary of Labor in pursuance thereof shall pay a penalty of $200 for each such offense. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the right of any alien to land in the United States, and no vessel shall be granted clearance pending the decision on appeal of the Secretary of Labor from the decision of a local immigration officer, unless in the case of a vessel which has been in such port for not more than twenty-four hours and in which no alien has been detained by the immigration officers at such port, a bond shall be given with sufficient sureties in such sum as the collector of customs may require conditioned for the payment of the penalty or penalties which may be incurred or imposed under the provisions of this section. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any vessel engaged in the transportation of mails of the United States.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 4. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been transmitted, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said Act has previously been served, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made, and the master has complied with the requirements of rule 24.

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness of such seaman, until the immigration officer in charge at the port of debarkation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination of such seaman), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question when the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expense shall not be refunded otherwise until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Italian (noun).

Italian (noun).

Column 5 (Alien's age in years).—Give the alien's age in years at his last birthday. If a child was born on board ship, write "0" (zero).

Column 6 (Sex).—The entry should be either M (male) or F (female).

Column 7 (Married or single).—The entry should be M (married), S (single), W (widow), or D (divorced).

Column 8 (Occupation).—The entry should describe as accurately as possible the occupation, trade, or profession of each alien, as, for example: Clerk, carpenter, stenographer, engineer, physician, author, editor, lawyer, farmer, laborer, servant, or other definite description.

A mechanic or laborer should be asked periodically during his employment whether he is a member of any union, and the answer recorded.

A farmer is one who owns a farm, either for himself or for others.

A farmer who owns and cultivates a farm for his own profit is to be classified as an employer.

A farmer who owns and cultivates a farm for others is to be classified as a wage earner.

Alternative combinations should make the distinction on the manifest and corrections should be made, if necessary, by inspectors and boards examining aliens in doubtful cases.

Column 9 (Able to read and write).—This column is designed to show whether the alien is literate. The following direction: "Read, write, and language [or, if exception is claimed, name which applies]." In answering this question the inspection should be governed by the ability of the alien to read and write the language or dialect the alien is able to read, and claims the right to read, regardless of whether he can write or not. The fact that he can write his name only, or that he can write but cannot read, should not be considered sufficient to justify a negative answer to this question.

Column 10 (Name and complete address of nearest relative or friend at country whence alien came).—The entry should show name and address of such relative. If no such relative have alien's own name and address of friend.

Column 11 (Final destination).—The answer to this question shall show the intended future permanent residence. An intended residence of one year shall constitute permanent residence. A city with a population of 100,000 or more, the State of New York, the county of Los Angeles, Calif., or the county of Cook, Ill., shall be considered sufficient to indicate permanent residence. If information for classification purposes that contemplates combining nonimmigrant visitors with permanent residents is desired, the following direction should be given:

Country of last permanent residence (residence independent of country of temporary residence) should be given as the country in which the alien had a fixed abode at the termination of residence of the United States or which he had the intention at that time of making his permanent residence, irrespective of the length of time he had resided in any other country.

Column 12 (Name and complete address of person or corporation in United States).—The entry should show name and address of such relative. If no such relative have alien's own name and address of friend.

Column 13 (Ever in U. S. before?).—The answer to this question shall show the intended future permanent residence. An intended residence of one year shall constitute permanent residence. A city with a population of 100,000 or more, the State of New York, the county of Los Angeles, Calif., or the county of Cook, Ill., shall be considered sufficient to indicate permanent residence.

Column 14 (Have you a ticket through to your final destination?).—The entry should be "Yes" (or "No").

Column 15 (Whether in possession of $50 and if not, how much).—The answer should give the intended future permanent residence. An intended residence of one year shall constitute permanent residence. A city with a population of 100,000 or more, the State of New York, the county of Los Angeles, Calif., or the county of Cook, Ill., shall be considered sufficient to indicate permanent residence.

Column 16 (Whether going to join a relative or friend; and if so, what relative or friend).—The answer should be "Yes" (or "No").

Column 17 (Name and complete address of relative or friend).—The entry should be the name and address of such relative or friend in the United States to whom the alien is going.

Column 18 (Whether in possession of ticket to final destination).—The entry should be "Yes" (or "No").

Column 19 (Whether in possession of $50 and if not, how much).—The entry should be the amount of money the alien has in his possession, not less than $50 in the case of each adult alien, or the equivalent in foreign money according to the current rate of exchange. In the case of a family the head of the family should show the money for the entire family.

Column 20 (Whether going to join husband or wife in the United States).—The entry should be "Yes" (or "No").

Column 21 (Whether ever before a prisoner in a penal institution or supported by charity).—The entry should be "Yes" (or "No").

(b) Front fines may be sued for and collected by any district attorney to whom the Secretary of Labor may certify the facts upon which the liability to the fine has been incurred, in the district in which the vessel may be found by the collector of customs or any deputy collector of customs to whose port the vessel may thereafter come.

Any vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(e) Fines and penalties may be sued for and collected by any district attorney to whom the Secretary of Labor may certify the facts upon which the liability to the fine has been incurred, in the district in which the port to which the vessel may thereafter come is located and the fine or penalty may be recovered.

(f) Any person who knowingly aids or abets any alien seaman to desert, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport alien seamen on such vessel, and any person who knowingly aids or abets such alien seaman to desert or to remain illegally in the United States or to evade examination or the payment of the fine imposed by this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

I, ... of the ..... do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly in said vessel from and port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the copy of section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from application B, rule 7, and copy of sections 13 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, hereto appear below.

..... Master, First or Second Officer.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival; and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens or alien members of crews (Form 524) shall not be removed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, commander, or consignee of any vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be hired in the port of arrival; or state conspicuously on such list that no aliens are employed on such vessel, which list shall be delivered to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master, agent, or consignee of such vessel before any inspection of the vessel or any part of the crew or passengers shall be had. Such list shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the quadruplicate copy thereof shall be delivered to the master of such vessel at the time of the vessel's departure from the last foreign port or place at which she touches, and he shall deliver the same to each alien employed thereon upon the arrival of such vessel at the first port in the United States at which she touches thereafter. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list, or deliver a false list, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to any such alien any such list which has been delivered to him, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain such alien on board such vessel at the port of arrival until a permit to land shall be granted to him by the immigrant inspector in charge, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival any such alien so detained on board such vessel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That clearance may be granted such vessel prior to the payment of such fine upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) That any alien seaman who does not depart from the contiguous territory of the vessel on which he arrives in the United States from any place outside thereof within the time limited in such landing permit, or within such further time as may be granted by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deemed to be unlawfully within the United States and shall be arrested and deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the deportation of any such alien seaman who has remained in the United States for a period not exceeding six months if such alien seaman shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he was unable to depart from the United States within the time limited in such landing permit because of illness or other cause beyond his control, and that such illness or other cause existed and prevented such departure prior to the date of the expiration of such landing permit.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of the length of time required for the journey to the country to which he elects to be deported, the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien seaman to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 6. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to file administrative time prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 33 of said Act cannot have been served, the deposit specified in rule 55 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, or for such other reasons as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board the vessel such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) That any alien seaman did not depart from the contiguous territory of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be arrested and deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may cause such alien seaman to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens manifest or crew (Form 613) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the alien's country, their ports where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and ultimate those to be landed and discharged in the port of arrival; to list containing as much of such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and to deliver to such officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who shall thereafter be employed on any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a list containing the names of all such employees, together with information likely to lead to their apprehension; and any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or neglect to comply with any such requirement, or who shall knowingly report falsely or fraudulently in any such list, or who shall refuse to permit any immigrant inspector to go on board any such vessel and to question any alien on board thereof, or who shall refuse to detain any such alien on board any such vessel when requested so to do by such inspector, or who shall refuse to detain any such alien on board any such vessel after notice that such alien has been certified for special inquiry, or who shall refuse to detain such alien on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Every alien seaman who does not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue interruption to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury requiring hospital treatment, or when in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor such alien may be treated in safety to the public health, and then only under such regulations as he may prescribe for the enforcement of this section.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof is hereby authorized to employ in the United States, in the service of such vessel, such alien seamen (while remaining a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), as may be certified by the medical officer of the port of arrival as necessary to replace alien seamen employed on such vessel who have been certified by such medical officer as unfit to proceed to sea, or who have been lawfully detained or removed from the United States, or who have died, deserted, or been left behind in foreign countries because of illness or injury, or who have been granted shore leave, and who intend to depart from the United States with the vessel on which they arrived. Such seamen shall be employed only in the service for which they were engaged, and shall not be employed on any vessel other than the vessel on which they arrived in the United States, except with the permission of the Secretary of Labor, or such officer as he may designate for the purpose, and upon the departure of such vessel from the United States the master thereof shall report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure the name, description, and photograph of each alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure has reported that such alien seaman has complied with the provisions of this section relating to his departure.

SEC. 21. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall employ on board any alien seaman who is not lawfully entitled to be employed and landed, or who shall fail to report the illegal landing or departure of any such alien seaman, or who shall fail to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of departure any such alien seaman who has been ordered by the Secretary of Labor to be so delivered, or who shall fail to pay the cost of maintenance and transportation of such alien seaman as provided in section 16 of this Act, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof.

(d) Every fine or alien seaman who may not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that an alien seaman who has been reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman on such vessel unless the master produces the proper certificate of the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such emergencies as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who are to be landed in the port of arrival; or lists containing no more of such aliens than are to be discharged in the port of arrival, as the case may be, and the number of aliens employed in each department thereof, and such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any alien has been secreted on board such vessel, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been added to the crew since the arrival of the vessel, with such information as may be required by such officer in relation to the original list. Such additional lists shall be delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port of departure before the vessel leaves the dock at which she has been moored, and in case of vessels departing from ports where no such officer is stationed, then before the vessel departs from the limits of the port. Any owner, agent, consignee, master, or person acting in any such capacity who shall refuse or neglect to deliver any list required by this section, or who shall deliver a false list, or who shall refuse to any immigrant inspector or other officer of the United States Government the right to go and come upon the vessel for the purpose of examining the list of passengers and crew, or who shall refuse to detain any alien on board when ordered so to do by any such officer, or who shall refuse to assist such officer in the performance of his duty in respect to any alien on board, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any court of the United States having jurisdiction of such offenses shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom any such failure occurs. The vessel may be required to remain in port not more than one day after the last list is delivered, unless sooner granted clearance by the immigration officer in charge of the port. Any master who shall refuse to detain any alien on board his vessel after notice and demand so to do by such officer shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000. Clearance may be refused any vessel in respect of which any violation of this section has occurred until the penalties herein provided shall have been paid or until the master shall have deposited with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to pay the same, and such deposit shall entitle the master to a hearing before the Secretary of Labor, whose decision thereon shall be final.

SEC. 37. That the Secretary of Labor shall prescribe rules and regulations for the performance of the duties imposed upon masters, agents, owners, consignees, and others by the provisions of this Act, and may employ such inspectors, clerks, and other employees as may be necessary for the proper execution of this Act, and may make such expenditures for rent, printing, and other miscellaneous expenses as may be necessary for the execution of this Act and as may be appropriated for by Congress.

(a) Any master, owner, agent, charterer, consignee, or person acting as such, who shall bring to the United States from any place outside the United States any alien who is afflicted with any of the diseases named in section 2 of this Act, or who has been deported under the provisions of this Act, shall be required to detain such alien on board the vessel on which he arrived during the entire time such vessel remains in port, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance while any such alien remains on board, except in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

(b) Any master, owner, agent, charterer, consignee, or person acting as such, who shall bring to the United States from any place outside the United States any alien who is afflicted with any of the diseases named in section 2 of this Act, or who has been deported under the provisions of this Act, shall be required to detain such alien on board the vessel on which he arrived during the entire time such vessel remains in port, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance while any such alien remains on board, except in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reason to believe that any alien [illegible] on board any vessel by which he arrived may become a public charge, or that the transportation of such alien was paid for with the proceeds of any unlawful activity, he may cause such alien to be detained on board such vessel or at such port pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor as to whether such alien shall be allowed to land, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such action has been taken.

(d) Every master, owner, agent, charterer, consignee, or person acting as such, who shall bring to the United States from any place outside the United States any alien who is afflicted with any of the diseases named in section 2 of this Act, or who has been deported under the provisions of this Act, shall be required to detain such alien on board the vessel on which he arrived during the entire time such vessel remains in port, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance while any such alien remains on board, except in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who are to be landed in the port of arrival; or lists containing no more of such aliens than are to be discharged in the port of arrival, as the case may be, and the number of aliens employed in each department thereof, and such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any alien has been secreted on board such vessel, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been added to the crew since the arrival of the vessel, with such information as may be required by such officer in relation to the original list. Such additional lists shall be delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port of departure before the vessel leaves the dock at which she has been moored, and in case of vessels departing from ports where no such officer is stationed, then before the vessel departs from the limits of the port. Any owner, agent, consignee, master, or person acting in any such capacity who shall refuse or neglect to deliver any list required by this section, or who shall deliver a false list, or who shall refuse to any immigrant inspector or other officer of the United States Government the right to go and come upon the vessel for the purpose of examining the list of passengers and crew, or who shall refuse to detain any alien on board when ordered so to do by any such officer, or who shall refuse to assist such officer in the performance of his duty in respect to any alien on board, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any court of the United States having jurisdiction of such offenses shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom any such failure occurs. The vessel may be required to remain in port not more than one day after the last list is delivered, unless sooner granted clearance by the immigration officer in charge of the port. Any master who shall refuse to detain any alien on board his vessel after notice and demand so to do by such officer shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000. Clearance may be refused any vessel in respect of which any violation of this section has occurred until the penalties herein provided shall have been paid or until the master shall have deposited with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to pay the same, and such deposit shall entitle the master to a hearing before the Secretary of Labor, whose decision thereon shall be final.

SEC. 37. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign coterminous limits of the United States shall be required to detain on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seamen (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or otherwise landed such seamen in accordance with the regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alternate detention or removal, or transhipment to such vessels or vessels of the same line, or other vessels as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, of such seamen as may be certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as afflicted with any of the diseases named in section 2 of this Act, or who have been deported under the provisions of this Act, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a fine thereof is not made as above provided: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the duration of the detention of the said aliens, or upon the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such duration upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

Par. 8. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of inability to find the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to find prescribed by section 36 of said Act, and the deposit specified in rule 35 has been made.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or detainment to such extraordinary as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall not be required to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seamen (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or otherwise landed such seamen in accordance with the regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alternate detention or removal, or transhipment to such vessels or vessels of the same line, or other vessels as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, of such seamen as may be certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as afflicted with any of the diseases named in section 2 of this Act, or who have been deported under the provisions of this Act, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such duration upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every master, owner, agent, charterer, consignee, or person acting as such, who shall bring to the United States from any place outside the United States any alien who is afflicted with any of the diseases named in section 2 of this Act, or who has been deported under the provisions of this Act, shall be required to detain such alien on board the vessel on which he arrived during the entire time such vessel remains in port, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance while any such alien remains on board, except in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall have reason to believe that any alien [illegible] on board any vessel by which he arrived may become a public charge, or that the transportation of such alien was paid for with the proceeds of any unlawful activity, he may cause such alien to be detained on board such vessel or at such port pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor as to whether such alien shall be allowed to land, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such action has been taken.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any ports outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine, certified in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor from any place outside thereof, unless such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall deposit with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Fines that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or deport alien seamen by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel may be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

The list of classes of alien passengers (from each) shall not be removed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an arriving seaman is a "monkeyman," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be landed in the port of arrival; or lists containing no more of such information as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which such duty shall have not been performed before the departure of any such vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been left behind. No vessel shall be cleared, and no bond given or passport viséed by any consular officer, for the departure of any such vessel from any port or place in the United States to any foreign port or place, if the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof has been notified by the Secretary of Labor that any person employed thereon has been found to be afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or that any such person has been certified by the medical officer of the port as being afflicted with any such disease, or that any such person has been certified by the medical officer of the port as being a mental defective, or that any such person has been certified by the proper consular officer as being ineligible to citizenship and as belonging to one or more of the following classes of aliens: Anarchists, or persons who believe in or advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials; persons who disbelieve in or are opposed to organized government, or who advocate or teach the unlawful destruction of property; persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization entertaining, advocating, or teaching any of the above-mentioned doctrines; persons who advocate or teach the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character; persons who advocate or teach the unlawful damage, injury, or destruction of property; and persons who are members of or affiliated with any organization entertaining, advocating, or teaching the doctrine of criminal syndicalism, sabotage, the unlawful destruction of property, or the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character. Any person who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Any person who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(a) That if an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such alien on board such vessel when she departed, unless explained to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(b) That if any alien seaman employed on any vessel arriving in the United States from the Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Hawaii, or Alaska, or any port of the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or emergency certified to by the medical officer in charge at the port of arrival, and not for the purpose of entering the United States, he shall be deducted by the master of the vessel on which he arrived from the wages of such seaman the sum of $10 and all costs incurred in connection with his maintenance and transportation to the port of arrival, unless he shall have been adjudged insane or mentally defective upon examination by the medical officer at the port of arrival, in which case he shall be deducted from the wages of such seaman the sum of $30 and all costs incurred in connection with his maintenance and transportation to the port of arrival, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall furnish a bond in the penal sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman employed upon any vessel until the fees required by section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, have been tendered, and not then unless security is furnished to the administrative authorities hereinafter by said section or to that prescribed by section 35 of said Act unless waived by the deputy specified in rule 35 has been made.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to deliver or secure the detention of any alien crew member specified in the manifest required by section 12 of this Act, or who lands or permits to land any such alien crew member except in accordance with the regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, or while the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee thereof is under arrest upon a charge based upon the failure to deliver or secure the detention of any such alien crew member, unless there is deposited with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not speak upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or detain such seaman on board such vessel when such inspection or to obtain such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the master to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such sum, or while the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee thereof is under arrest upon a charge based upon such failure, unless there is deposited with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover such sum or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel is ready to depart from the United States, will be unduly delayed pending the completion of such proceedings, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to the ultimate detriment, however, of the deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment thereof, or while any fine or penalty imposed by this section remains unpaid, or while any seaman employed thereon is detained on board after the granting of clearance, unless a bond in the penal sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs is given to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located, conditioned for the payment of such fine or penalty within ten days after the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine or penalty by the Secretary of Labor, or before the departure of such vessel from the United States, whichever shall first occur. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any such fine or penalty, or any part thereof, upon the deposit of such sum as he may deem sufficient to secure the payment thereof.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the onboard manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States before the immigration officer at the port of arrival shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain such seaman on board.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, what ports they were respectively shipped at or cleared, and whether those to be landed intend to become citizens of the United States; to furnish such information as to each alien concerned as may be required by the Secretary of Labor; and to make oath before any immigrant inspector as to the correctness of such lists and information. Any master who shall refuse to deliver such lists, knowingly deliver false lists, or refuse to furnish such information shall pay a penalty of $10 for each such alien concerned, all cases in which such alien shall land from such vessel, except in pursuance of permission granted by the Secretary of Labor, and the penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon such terms as he shall think just and proper: And provided, That no master shall be liable to any penalty for the landing of any alien who shall have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who shall have been temporarily allowed to depart therefrom and return thereto, nor for the landing of any alien who was in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa at the time of his embarkation at a foreign port for the United States, unless the master shall have actual knowledge that such alien is unlawfully landed from the vessel, except in the case of an alien employed upon the vessel who shall have been specifically reported by the master to the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's arrival and who shall have been allowed to land temporarily and returned to the vessel in accordance with such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, and except in the case of an alien who has been granted by the Secretary of Labor the right to land temporarily in the United States in case of sickness or emergency requiring medical treatment, or because of the necessity of his testifying in behalf of the United States or of any State or municipality therein in any case or proceeding before a court, or in the case of a witness before the Department of Labor or any commission authorized by the Department of Labor to take testimony in any case or proceeding before it, and who shall have been specifically reported by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival and allowed to land temporarily as such witness: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may prescribe the terms and conditions upon which such witness may be required to depart from the United States, and the penalty shall be remitted or mitigated if any such witness shall depart in accordance with such terms and conditions: Provided further, That the master of any vessel bringing an alien who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders which would be ground for excluding such alien from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board the vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily, to the medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place at the port of entry shall deliver to each alien employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of entry has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to deliver such seaman on board prior such inspection or to depart such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not obtain upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a failure to obtain or deliver after employment by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel would cause undue hardship to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or line of such vessel, such alien may be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has been employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness of such alien seaman, or unless it is proved by such alien seaman to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he has become lawfully entitled to enter some country other than the United States, and is in fact admissible thereto under the immigration laws, or is in transit to any country other than the United States, and has been or will be accepted by such country, and has obtained from the proper consular officer of such country a passport or other document authorizing him to enter such country, and has the means of so doing. Any seaman who has been permitted to land temporarily under this section shall at the time of his departure from the United States be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the expenses of the administration of the immigration laws unless the Secretary of Labor is satisfied that he has obtained a passport or other document authorizing him to enter such country, and has the means of so doing, or that deportation at such time or to such country would result in serious injury to him or would be contrary to the interests of the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the name and such other information with respect to each alien seaman employed on such vessel (which information in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), as may be required by rules made by the Secretary of Labor in pursuance of law. (c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel or any vessel sailing to the same port of foreign departure within a period of four months from the date of such vessel's departure from the United States, will cause him to be detained or deported after the immediate expiration of the time allowed for his departure, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the appropriation for the expenses of the administration of the immigration laws unless the Secretary of Labor is satisfied that such seaman has been paid or furnished clearance and passage and has been paid or is entitled to be paid a sum sufficient to cover the cost of his maintenance while detained awaiting deportation and his transportation to the country to which he is deported, or that such country will pay him such sum.

Within 24 hours after the arrival of any vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any alien employed on such vessel has illegally landed from the vessel. Within 24 hours after information likely to lead to the apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer all cases in which any alien employed on such vessel has been hid on board, secreted, or concealed for the purpose of evading inspection. Any person who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine; and if the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel shall fail to deliver to each immigrant alien a card containing the names of the alien employee who were not examined by the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival, and also the names of those, if any, who have been held for special inquiry, and the cause of the failure to deliver either of the cards required by this section as the case may be, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each and every such offense.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside adjacent thereto, or any person engaged by any such master to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be paid off and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing no such information as to such aliens, as the case may be. Such lists shall be in the form and contain such information as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor from time to time, and shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer of the vessel. Within 24 hours after the arrival of any vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any alien employed on such vessel has illegally landed from the vessel. Within 24 hours after information likely to lead to the apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer all cases in which any alien employed on such vessel has been hid on board, secreted, or concealed for the purpose of evading inspection. Any person who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such offense, and in the event any such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid, not shall such ship be granted clearance; and if the owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel shall fail to deliver to each immigrant alien a card containing the names of the alien employee who were not examined by the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival, and also the names of those, if any, who have been held for special inquiry, and the cause of the failure to deliver either of the cards required by this section as the case may be, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each and every such offense, and also for each and every day during which such failure continues the amount of such fine shall be increased $10 per day, but the total amount of such fine shall not exceed $2,000.

(b) Any master, owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily on account of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States has been unduly delayed by the master, owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel as a contract, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain on board after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not absent upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Secretary of Labor.

(e) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question, or while the same remains unpaid, and such vessel may be granted clearance thus such expense has been paid to its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employment on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because such seaman (while in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or to such other time to decide as may be necessary for the purpose of such examination or for the medical treatment of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspection such seaman (while in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or to such other time to decide as may be necessary for the purpose of such examination or for the medical treatment of such alien from the United States.

(b) Upon the refusal of any such alien seaman to be inspected by the immigration officer, or upon the certificate of the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service that such alien seaman is suffering from any disease or condition which will probably require medical treatment in excess of the period for which the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel is liable under section 48 of this Act, or upon the refusal of such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer to furnish a bond or deposit money in accordance with the provisions of section 48 of this Act, such alien seaman may be required to be detained on board the vessel or at such place as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge pending the decision of the Secretary of Labor as to whether such alien seaman may be permitted to land temporarily or permanently in the United States or shall be required to depart therefrom, and pending such decision, such alien seaman shall be subject to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

(c) Upon the certificate by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service that the physical or mental condition of such alien seaman is such that he may be landed in the United States without danger to the public health or welfare, and upon the payment by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel of the cost of maintenance and treatment of such alien seaman while detained, and the head tax, if any, imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and the immigration officer in charge is satisfied that such alien seaman is not excludable from admission into the United States under any provision of this Act, such alien seaman may be granted a permit to land temporarily for such period of time as may be necessary for his medical treatment, under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, without the payment of the tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, but such permit shall not be granted in any case in which the immigration officer in charge has reason to believe that the seaman intends to land permanently or to evade the immigration laws of the United States. Such bond or deposit of money shall be returned to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, or upon his death while in the United States, or upon his being granted the right to land permanently in the United States.

(d) Every alien seaman who has been granted a permit to land temporarily as provided in this section shall be deported as soon as the medical officer in charge certifies that he is able to be deported without danger to the public health or welfare, unless in the meantime he has been granted the right to land permanently in the United States, and it shall be unlawful for the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived to refuse to deport such alien seaman when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor or any immigration officer. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who refuses shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, pay the cost of maintenance and treatment of any such alien seaman while detained, and the cost of his deportation, from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act.

(e) Every alien seaman who has been granted a permit to land temporarily as provided in this section shall be deported to the country to which he belongs at the time he was granted such permit, unless the Secretary of Labor, after investigation, finds that such alien seaman is entitled to be deported to another country which is willing to receive him, and in such case such alien seaman may be deported to such country.

(f) If the Secretary of Labor finds that any alien seaman on board any vessel arriving in the United States has been refused admission into the United States, or has remained in the United States for a longer time than permitted under this section, or has been landed temporarily in the United States and has remained therein for a longer time than permitted under this section, or has been granted a permit to land temporarily in the United States and has violated the terms of such permit, or has been granted the right to land permanently in the United States and such right has been withdrawn and cancelled, he shall cause such alien seaman to be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States. The cost of the maintenance of any such alien seaman while in the United States, and of his deportation, shall be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any such alien seaman who shall have been granted the right to land permanently in the United States shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of aliens who have been admitted to the United States and who are found to be in the United States in violation of this Act or any amendment thereto within five years after entry.

(g) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to amend, repeal, or modify any of the provisions of section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, relating to the refusal of clearance papers to vessels bringing aliens who are afflicted with certain mental or physical defects or who are coming to perform labor under contract.

(h) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who is a native of the United States, or who has been naturalized, or who has resided in the United States for five years next preceding his arrival at a port of the United States, or who has a wife or child in the United States, or who has a bona fide contract to enter the employment of any person, firm, or corporation in the United States, or who has a bona fide ticket entitling him to transportation to a place of destination beyond the United States, or who has the price of such transportation in his possession and has purchased a ticket therefor, or who has been in the United States for two years next preceding his arrival at a port of the United States, or who has been in the United States for two years next preceding his arrival at a port of the United States, or who has been in the United States for two years next preceding his arrival at a port of the United States.

(i) Any alien seaman who shall have been granted a permit to land temporarily as provided in this section shall be deported as soon as the medical officer in charge certifies that he is able to be deported without danger to the public health or welfare, unless in the meantime he has been granted the right to land permanently in the United States, and it shall be unlawful for the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived to refuse to deport such alien seaman when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor or any immigration officer. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who refuses shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers during the deportation of any such alien seaman unless and until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall have deposited sufficient money with the immigration officer in charge to pay the cost of such deportation, or shall have given a bond to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

(j) Every alien seaman who has been granted a permit to land temporarily as provided in this section shall be deported as soon as the medical officer in charge certifies that he is able to be deported without danger to the public health or welfare, unless in the meantime he has been granted the right to land permanently in the United States, and it shall be unlawful for the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived to refuse to deport such alien seaman when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor or any immigration officer. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who refuses shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers during the deportation of any such alien seaman unless and until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall have deposited sufficient money with the immigration officer in charge to pay the cost of such deportation, or shall have given a bond to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below must be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members to be reported during the passage from the last port of departure to the port of arrival (Form 688) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "stowaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below must be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel as the vessel is about to leave the last port of departure in the United States or Canada. The list of charges or notice mentioned in section 23 of the Act of February 5, 1917, must be attached to the list. Any person who knowingly and willfully makes a false statement in the list as to the right of any alien to enter the United States shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless he shall be certified as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate destination, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who shall fail to deport on board such vessel such alien seaman employed on such vessel duly examined by the medical examiners), shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. (b) Every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States on any vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be left behind by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be paid from funds withheld from the wages of such alien seaman, or, if sufficient funds are not withheld, upon the application of the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to the collector of customs.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, but that such seaman may be admitted to the United States temporarily, the master of the vessel on which he arrived may, subject to such regulations as such Secretary may prescribe, be permitted to allow such alien seaman to land temporarily without the payment of the tax imposed by section 2 of the Act of February 16, 1903, as amended, and without the deposit of the bond required by section 23 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and without the payment of the head tax imposed by section 1 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended, and without the deposit of the bond required by section 2 of the Act of March 3, 1891, as amended, and without the payment of the tax imposed by section 1 of the Act of March 26, 1910, as amended, and without the deposit of the bond required by section 1 of the Act of March 4, 1907, as amended, and without the payment of the tax imposed by section 1 of the Act of May 29, 1908
